TOOTH REFERRAL · SCRIPT 13 V2 · GOOGLE FLOW

Buried in Emails (natural rewrite)

Tanya and Amanda at the front desk, eleven 8-second clips (about 88 seconds, horizontal 16:9). Rewritten from Nitesh's notes: the problem is keeping up with emails, phone calls and voicemails and tracking where each referral stands; patients get upset when it slips; staff out and the holidays make it worse. Amanda brings up Tooth Referral from her last office, so it comes out of the conversation instead of a pitch.

What changed from v1

- No "we lost twenty referrals". The pain is the juggling: emails, phone calls, voicemails, faxes and not knowing the status.
- The patient who never got a call back, and the team stretched thin over the holidays ("we're losing steam").
- "That's the old way": every referral living in someone's inbox or someone's head.
- Tooth Referral as the system that replaces the web form and merges all the communication about each referral in one place, with the X-rays, insurance and status.
- The close: the office runs as one system, whoever is in that day. Nobody on the team is blamed.
- No hard sell or free-trial line in the dialogue; the call to action lives on the end card.

The script

01 · Since lunch

Amanda “You've been staring at that screen since lunch. What's going on?”

02 · None of them match

Tanya “I'm trying to figure out where one referral even stands. There's an email, a voicemail, a fax... and none of them match.”

03 · She's right

Tanya “And a patient just called, upset. She said nobody ever got back to her. Honestly? She's right.”

04 · Losing steam

Amanda “Hey, it's not you. Half the team's been out, it's the holidays...”
Tanya “...and we're losing steam.”

05 · The old way

Tanya “Every referral lives in someone's inbox or someone's head. If they're out, it's just... gone.”
Amanda “Yeah. That's the old way.”

06 · At my last office

Amanda “At my last office, we replaced the form on our website with Tooth Referral. Every referral came in as one case.”
Tanya “One case?”

07 · All in one place

Amanda “It puts all the communication about that referral in one place. X-rays, insurance, messages, status. Whoever opens it sees everything.”

08 · If I'm out tomorrow

Tanya “So if I'm out tomorrow...”

Amanda “Greg opens it and knows exactly where it stands. No digging through anyone's email.”

09 · They call constantly

Tanya “And the dentist's office? They call us constantly.”

Amanda “They see the status themselves. And they can message us right on the case.”

10 · It just ran

Amanda “That's what I liked. It didn't depend on who was working that day. The whole office just ran.”

Tanya “That's what we need.”

11 · Team meeting

Tanya “Okay. I'm bringing this to the team meeting.”

Amanda “Bring it. You might actually get to eat lunch.”

STEP 1 · BACKGROUND IMAGE

Front office background prompt

Generate this as an image first and use it for every clip so the room never changes. Then create a cast still: "the same dental front office, now with Tanya seated at the left workstation and Amanda standing beside her".

Horizontal 16:9 photograph of the front office of a real, modern, upscale dental practice, shot from the waiting-room side looking at the reception desk, eye level, 35mm lens, f/2.8, a professional interiors photo. A long front desk with a white quartz top and a warm light-oak front panel, a raised transaction ledge, and two workstations behind it. Each workstation has a slim black monitor angled away from the camera, a keyboard and mouse, a black multi-line desk phone, a pen cup, a small stack of manila patient folders, a small paper tray and a small tooth model. On the wall behind the desk is a calm sage-green feature wall with a brushed-metal sign shape (blank, no readable letters) and a framed smiling-tooth illustration. To the right, an open doorway shows a treatment room with a modern dental chair and an overhead dental light. To the left are a tall window with soft winter daylight through sheer blinds, a small silver-and-white holiday garland along the window ledge, a potted fiddle-leaf fig and a few beige waiting chairs. Warm recessed ceiling lights plus natural daylight, soft shadows, true-to-life colours. Lived-in, realistic details: a few papers, sticky notes, cables neatly tucked. Real-photo texture, subtle grain. No people, no readable text, no logos, no red objects, no CGI look.

Characters (built into every prompt)
Tanya: mid-30s, dark brown low side ponytail, navy short-sleeve V-neck scrubs, blank name badge. Warm, mid-to-low voice; tired at first, then decided.
Amanda: early 30s, shoulder-length light-brown wavy hair, teal scrub top under a light grey cardigan, blank name badge, white mug. Bright, friendly voice; calm and easy-going.

Tanya keeps looking at the screen.
Camera: medium-wide two-shot from across the desk at eye level, both women and the treatment-room doorway in frame, static on a tripod with a very slow, smooth push-in.

It didn't depend on who was working that day. The whole office just ran." TANYA speaks with a warm, mid-to-low mid-30s female voice with a natural neutral American accent, quiet, decided. Perfectly lip-synced: "That's what we need."

Horizontal 16:9 video, 8 seconds, one continuous shot. Photorealistic live-action footage that looks professionally filmed, not AI-generated: shot on a cinema camera (Sony FX3 look) with a 35mm lens, natural window daylight plus soft practical office lights, true-to-life colours, real skin texture with pores, subtle film grain, natural imperfections, no glossy or plastic look. The front office of a real, modern dental practice (the same room as the background image): a long front desk with a white quartz top and a light-oak front panel, a raised ledge, a slim monitor angled away from the camera (soft glow, no readable screen), a black multi-line desk phone, a small paper tray with a few printed pages, a pen cup, manila patient folders, a card reader and a small tooth model. Behind the desk is a sage-green feature wall with a blank brushed-metal sign shape and a framed smiling-tooth illustration. An open doorway on the right shows a treatment room with a dental chair and an overhead dental light. On the left, a window with sheer blinds and soft winter daylight, a small silver-and-white holiday garland along the window ledge, a potted fig and beige waiting chairs. Warm recessed ceiling lights. Lived-in details: a few papers and sticky notes.
TANYA, a woman in her mid-30s with dark brown hair in a low side ponytail over her left shoulder, navy short-sleeve V-neck scrubs and a small blank white name badge grabs a sticky note and a pen and writes something quickly, smiling. AMANDA, a woman in her early 30s with shoulder-length light-brown wavy hair worn down, a soft teal scrub top under a light grey cardigan and a small blank white name badge stands up with her mug, gives Tanya a light pat on the shoulder, says her line with a grin and walks back toward the doorway. Tanya laughs softly.
Camera: medium-wide two-shot from across the desk, eye level, static.
